MEMORIAL presented to the States General, in regard to the Felicity Frigate, by the Count d'Affry, Ambassador of France.

HIGH AND MIGHTY LORDS,

YOUR High Mightinesses have been informed of what passed on the 24th ult. with regard to the French Frigate the Felicity, which being pursued and attacked by three English Ships of War, was forced to shelter herself, by running on Shore off Gravefande.

It was before the Eyes of a Multitude of the Inhabitants of this Country, whom Curiosity carried to Gravefande, that the Captain of the English Frigate the Richmond, behaved in this Occasion in an unheard of Manner. The Captain of the French Frigate being called to strike, made Answer, that he would surrender on no Terms, as he counted upon the Safeguard of the Neutrality observed by your High Mightinesses in the present War. Regardless of this Declaration, and in Contempt of the most sacred Laws, the Captain of the Richmond took Possession of the Frigate, after cannonading her in such a Manner, that several of the Balls came in a great Way in the Downs. He hoisted English Colours on board the Felicity, took away every Thing that could be removed, destroyed the Masts and Rigging which his Cannon did spare; and finding he could no longer continue his Outrages with Impunity, determined to set Fire to the Frigate, which was done accordingly.

Upon the Notice I sent to the King my Master of these Things, his Majesty commanded me to ask your High Mightinesses to procure him Restitution of the Felicity Frigate, with her Cargo, and Indemnification for the Loss which his Majesty and the Owners have sustained by this unjust Violence of the English.

His Majesty is not only perswaded, that your High Mightinesses, considering what you owe to yourselves, and to the Honour of the Republic, will require from the Court of London Reparation, not less authentic than just, for the Infract offered to your Sovereignty, and to your Neutrality, and in Violation of your Territory on this Occasion.

But his Majesty further expects, from the Equity and Friendship of your High Mightinesses, that you will take efficacious Measures in England to procure him due Satisfaction. I must not omit informing your High Mightinesses, that the King my Master is extremely sensible, not only of the Orders given to prevent, if it were yet Time, the Insult offered them, and the Pillaging and setting Fire to the French Frigate; but also of the Behaviour of the Subjects of the Republic on that Occasion, and the Assistance his People received from them.

The King my Master hath the more Ground to expect that the Republic will take the most serious Steps in this Affair, as they have great Reason to be pleased with that singular Protection which the Trade and Navigation of their Subjects enjoy in France. Your High Mightinesses have a fresh Proof of the King my Master's Favour towards you, in his ordering the Ship Eendrag, with her Cargo, to be released, with Damages and Costs.

Hague, Feb. 16, 1761.

Comte d'Affry.

PHILADELPHIA, June 11.

By several Letters from Lisbon, of the 29th and 30th of April, there is Advice, that the Packet Boats betwixt Dover and Calais, have a free Passage; by which it was imagined that a Treaty of Peace was on the Carpet, tho' all military Preparations, and intended Expeditions, were prosecuted with the utmost Vigour. Also that a French Man of War, of 60 Guns, and a Frigate of 36, had been cruising off the Rock of Lisbon, and had chased in there two English Frigates; and that Captain Kennedy had failed (for Gibraltar, it was thought) for some of our Men of War to come and endeavour to take them.

We likewise hear from Lisbon, that some Vessels had arrived there, which parted with the Expedition Fleet off of Cape Finisterre, steering to the Southward.

The Captains Allison and Thurman, from this Port for Lisbon, were both taken, and ransomed for 1000 l. Sterling each.

We have Advice from Cadix, that six Sail of Spanish Man of War of the Line, with about 4000 Land Forces on board, sailed from that Place two Months ago, said to be bound for the West-Indies: And that some French Privateers were cruising off of that Port, and had taken several English Vessels.

Monday arrived here the Captains Taylor and Arthur from Lisbon, by whom there is Advice, that his Majesty's Ship Isis, Captain Wheeler, had taken the Orisamme, a French 64 Gun Ship, tho' she had but 40 mounted, being loaded with Stores, &c. for Martinico. Capt. Wheeler was killed in the Engagement.

Extract of a Letter from Lisbon, April 16.

"The 31st ult. we had a severe Earthquake, which lasted five Minutes; but, thank God, was attended with no other Consequences than alarming the Inhabitants.

"Capt. Johnston, of the Hornet, spoke with a Vessel bound for Gibraltar, that informed him, he had fallen in some Days before with the Venus Frigate, that had under her Care a French India Ship outward bound, pierced for 64 Guns, and a Privateer; and that the Hero continued the Chase of another Indiaman that was in Company, which the Officers of the Venus concluded was then in their Possession.

Yesterday came to Town Captain Nuttle, in seven Weeks from Liverpool. By him was have a Paper of April 10, and London Advices to the 7th of that Month, the Purport of which is as follows, viz.

That his Majesty, King GEORGE the Third, declared in Council, the Third of April, his Intention of marrying the Princess of Brunswick, Sister of the Hereditary Prince: That the Duke of York was appointed Admiral of the Blue, and was to bring over to England the designed Consort of the King: That the Expedition Fleet sailed the 30th of March, having 9000 Land Forces on board, consisting of 12 Ships of the Line, 7 Frigates, 3 Sloops, 2 Bombs, and a Fireships, said to be designed for the Island of Bourbon: That a second Fleet was sitting out, thought to be going on another Expedition: That on the 21st of March the Prince of Brunswick, in his Retreat from Heimbach, to join Prince Ferdinand, was attacked by the French, as he was entering a Defile, when the Enemy got an Advantage, and, according to their Account, the Allies lost 2000 Men, with 23 Standards and Colours, 14 Pieces of Cannon, and several Chests of Ammunition and Provision: That on the 25th the French attacked a Body of the Allies, and made Prisoners 2 Colonels, 1 Major, 6 Captains, and 9 other Officers, with 400 private Men, and took 2 Pieces of Cannon, and 3 Colours: That in the Night, between the 27th and 28th of March, the Allies raised the Siege of Cassel: That the King of Prussia had marched for Dresden; and Letters from Saxony mention his having invested that City on the 24th of March: And that Marshal Daun set out from Vienna the 21st of that Month to join the Army.

To the PRINTER.

SIR,

The following Dialogue between Palquin and Marforio has been transmitted from Rome; if you approve of it give it a Place; if otherwise, — Peace to its Manes. Yours, &c.

Palquin. WELL, Marforio, are not these fine Doings in the North?

Mar. Yes, truly; Thousands cutting each others Throats, they know not for what.

Palquin. What! Is not a Province worth contending for?

Mar. No, the Blood and Treasure it has cost would have purchased and peopled a Colony of six Times its Extent.

Palquin. Are Princes then blind to their Interest?

Mar. Often; they place Revenge, Ambition, and Folly, around the Temple of Wisdom, who bar the Gates against the Entrance of Prudence.

Palquin. And pray what are we going to do in the South?

Mar. To play the Fool; our Neighbours have set their Houses on Fire, and we intend throwing in combustible Matter to stop the Progress of the Flames.

Palquin. Must not Establishments be made for young Princes?

Mar. Yes, there is Room in America; the Jesuits are coming Home; if it is but exchanging Fools.

Palquin. Still satirical, Marforio? — Pray tell me what are the English about?

Mar. Endangering the Substance, by grasping at the Shadow.

Palquin. The French sure ate in the Right?

Mar. Yes—they have lost their Breeches, and they want to lose their A—s.

Palquin. What are the Spaniards doing?

Mar. Going to burn their Fingers.

Palquin. How are the Dutch employed?

Mar. Like the Inhabitants of inhospitable Shores, busy in plundering the Wreck of Europe.

Palquin. What are the Russians?

Mar. Political Thieves, scheming to steal Provinces from their Neighbours.

Palquin. What is the King of Prussia?

Mar. A Fox, pursued by a Pack of Hounds.

Palquin. What is the Emperor?

Mar. A round O.

Palquin. What is the Empress Queen?

Mar. A Bully in Petticoats.

Palquin. What is the King of Sweden?

Mar. A Prince and a Slave.

Palquin. The King of Denmark?

Mar. The Picture of Justice poisoning the Balance of the North.

Palquin. What is his Holiness?

Mar. An old Woman telling her Beads, and busy in the Distaff.

Palquin. What is Portugal about?

Mar. Registering her own Follies.

Palquin. What must the young King of Naples do?

Mar. Get out of leading Strings.

Palquin. What is the King of Sardinia?

Mar. A Cat watching a Mouse.

Palquin. When shall you cease being satirical?

Mar. When the World grows wise, when Princes be their own Interest and pursue it; till then—trouble me no more.

BOSTON, June 1.

Extract of a Letter from a Gentleman in Bermuda, dated April 28, 1761.

"It is now, and has been for a Month past, very hot in this Island, there being scarce People enough well to take Care of the Sick.—It is a violent inflammatory Disorder, never known in this Country before, and seizes upon all Ages, Constitutions and Complexions, and proves very mortal, especially to old People, and as many have died in one Night, as at another Time in a whole Year.—There are four stout Privateers from Old-France cruising in these Parts, and probably may pick up many Vessels from your Parts, bound to the West-Indies: One of the Privateers is a Brig (as she appears to us) and has been in Sight of this Island for a fortnight past; and last Week the Captain Bailey, in a Schooner, from Cape-Bay, with London, as near the Shore as she could do, without running on the Rocks: Captain Bailey escaped being taken, by running his Vessel among the Rocks, in a very hazardous Manner.

Thursday Morning last several Vessels arrived here in 23 Days from Quebec, by whom we learn, That the Garrison at that Place were in good Health; and had been so all Winter; having Plenty of Provisions and other Necessaries.

NEW-LONDON, May 29.

Extract of a Letter from Mr. Andrew Thompson, late of this Town, to his Father here, dated London, March 9.

"Four Weeks after our Departure from New-York, in the Brigantine Andrey, Capt. Lawrence, we were taken by a French Privateer of 14 Guns. Our Captain and People were immediately carried on board the Privateer, leaving in our Ship a young Lad, who was a Passenger, and myself: They then put 12 Frenchmen on board us, and two English Seamen, Prisoners, to assist them to carry the Vessel to Bayonne, to which Place the Privateer belonged. After being in their Possession 14 Days (with the Assistance of these two, which made in all 4 of us) we fell upon them about 9 at Night, with an Axe, two Pistols and a Pistol: We soon gained the Possession of the Cabin, leaving that of the Deck to them; they barred us down all Night; about 9 next Morning, we put a Brace of Balls through one of their principal Seamen, on which they immediately called for Quarters, which we granted; at the same Time ordered them all up in the Foretop, and so bound them one after another as we allowed them to come down. After having them in Possession 3 Days, we, to our great Joy, arrived safe at Plymouth. In this Action we killed 3 of the Frenchmen, and wounded six. There were none of us hurt but myself, by being a little too forward in the Beginning of the Attack; however, I am in a manner recovered, except a Cut over my left Eye with a Cut-throat. We brought 9 Frenchmen into Plymouth, who are now all alive and well. When we were first taken, the Frenchmen stripped me of every Thing even to my shoe-buckles, so I have lost my Shirt, my Clothes, &c. as they were all carried on board the Privateer: However, I expect our Loss will soon be made up, having already had the Offer of a Lieutenantcy, which I thought proper to refuse."

Besides the above, a Gentleman writes Mr. Thompson from New-York, That the Four were introduced to the Lords of the Admiralty, from whom they received Thanks, and a Gold Medal, for their Gallant Behaviour. Likewise that the Under-writers had made them a Present of a Quarter Part of the Vessel and Cargo.
